IN SIX WEEKS, SAYS THE BROGADO PAVING company, this rugged scene will be transformed into one of smooth concrete and sidewalk. The city council last week called for an explanation of alleged delays in the Brunswick street connection. In a meeting with the council earlier in the week, Brogado insisted that delays caused by the city's legal fight over the land with ex-mayor H. H. Smith had slowed construction. Six weeks was the time set for completion of the work.

Council Rejects Center Bids

LIONS CLUB OFFERS PARKING METER SOLUTION; MAY ASK FOR REMOVAL

The storm clouds of a battle over the parking meter situation in Daly City were brewing this week with the city council and top-of-the-hill merchants, represented by the Daly City-Colma Lions club, in direct opposition.

Walt Rector, Lions club civic improvement committee chairman, stood up at Monday night's council meeting and told the city's ruling body:

Taxation

"The meters have become a means of taxation rather than a method of regulating traffic . . . many times a person will put in a penny and not be able to get back in time. This means they take their business elsewhere."

Rector went on to outline a Lions-sponsored plan to correct the situation. He said the Lions would furnish police with nickels to put in the meters, and return envelopes to leave under windshield wipers in place of citations.

Citation Second Time

The second time around, the officer would remove the envelope and leave the ticket.

Mayor J. Paul Green answered, "I don't think it's a policeman's duty to babysit parking meters, but we'll take your suggestion under consideration."

Lions prexy Hal Willis told THE RECORD that, if "something isn't done about this discrimination against top-of-the-hill merchants, we'll petition to have the meters taken out entirely."

Discrimination

"We feel that people are being unfairly discriminated against. There are two other shopping districts in Daly City with no meters and ample parking. Mission street merchants can't compete against that if their customers are going to be tagged ever time they park."

Police Chief Roland Petrocchi backed Mayor Green's stand and added that, in his opinion, the meters maintain a flow of traffic rather than deter it.

City Administrator Dan Andersen said: "I think the Lions are being a little too optimistic. If people return those nickels, it'll be a surprise to me."

Used Previously

Willis added that the plan has

Schedule Registration For Elementary Schools

Registration of new pupils in the Jefferson Elementary school district will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon next Friday, September 5, according to a report received today from H. Z. Weibel, superintendent of the district.

Pupils formerly enrolled, he added, will be notified by postcard of the time they should report to school on opening day, Wednesday, September 10.

Set Court Hearing Of W'lake Squabble

September 5 and 12 are the two dates when the Westlake Improvement Association will meet in Superior Court in Redwood City with two residents of the tract who allegedly failed to comply with association by-laws.

Answering a complaint for failure to abate a nuisance on Friday, September 5, will be Gibson Burke, 190 Westlawn avenue. On Friday, September 12, Wesley Prather, 15 Belmont drive, is scheduled to appear on the same charge.

Same Charge

Both Burke and Prather have been charged by the association with the same violation of its by-laws; building a fence that is not in compliance with the organization's rules, which specifiy a five-foot height limit from normal ground level.

According to latest reports, several similar actions died aborning when other alleged violators made the necessary corrections as specified by the association's architectural committee. Other complaints are expected to be filed in the event that compliance with the rules is not made.

Board Meeting

A meeting of the association board will be held September 2 to decide on posible further action against residents.

A total of 15 violators of the association's building codes have been tabulated to date. Most of them consisting of fences and hedges that do not comply with the codes.

San Francisco attorney James McCabe, representing the association, last week told THE RECORD he thought most of the cases could be settled without recourse to legal action. "If you talk it over with these people, they'll generally begin to appreciate that the by-laws are for their own protection as well as their neighbor's."

Will Meet At Special Session Next Tuesday For Final Decision

The city council summarily rejected bids on site improvement of the War Memorial Center at their regular meeting Monday night.

Mayor Paul Green said the bids were many times what the council had been led to expect.

A representative of Architect Mario Ciampi, designer of the building, was present at the meeting but told the council, in answer to a question from Green, that he had no figures on the architect's original estimate of the site development cost.

A total of 20 bids were entered on development of the building site, landscaping and installation of adequate plumbing. All were held over for a special council session, slated for Tuesday night, September 2.

Exactly what will be done in the matter will be decided at that time. Not all the bids were considered too large for consideration, City Administrator Dan Andersen said yesterday.

Below Estimate

The three bids received for installation of plumbing in the controversial center building were below original estimates of cost. They are: A. M. Harrison, $4656; Adam, $5706; and J. Elmer Riddle, $6958.

The site development estimates —a costly job involving concrete abutments, patios, etc. — are: Adam Aras and Son, $29,747; Ralph Larsen and Son, $30,413; Beacon Construction Company, $31,988; and Carlan Construction Company, $37,754.

Too High

All were considered too high by the council.

Also held over for discussion were bids on the drainage improvement at Edgemar and Whittier, and storm drain improvement at Mission and Valley.

The original estimate for the Edgemar job was $3000. Bids were: J. Henry Harris, $5367; Bragado Paving, $4010; and Sorenson, $5576.

For the storm drain improvement at Mission and Valley streets, estimate was $2250. The bids were: Bragado, $3150; McFadden, $3532.50; Foley and Kreuger, $3240; and Sorenson, $3240.

Bids on the landscaping work at the center varied from $3280 to $7680.

MOTORIST'S NOTE: NEVER SIDESWIPE AN OFFICER'S CAR

If you must hit a parked car, take warning from the experience of Cpl. Matthew Zimmerman, 22, U. S. Army, 20 Ellington street, San Francisco.

Zimmerman allegedly hit a parked car in Daly City and didn't even know it—he thought he had a blowout. And what's even worse the car was a late model sedan belonging to a gentleman named John Coleman, officer in the Daly City police department.

Saturday Morning

Police report that Zimmerman's 1936 model smacked into Officer Coleman's car while it was parked in front of his house, 121 Hillside boulevard, at approximately 2 a. m. Saturday morning.

The car was spotted heading south on Knowles avenue by Mac McPheters, tow car driver for Lombardi's Auto Service. McPheters radioed his station, and the call was passed to Daly City via phone.

Into Custody

The local cops took off en masse and Sgt. Dave Hansen, Officer James Sunderland and auxiliary Officer Brohman stopped the car at Knowles west of Mission street. They took Zimmerman and his two passengers into custody.

Zimmerman received a speeding and hit-and-run charge. He told Municipal Judge William Sweeney that he thought he only had a blowout. The hit-and-run charge was dismissed and a $10 fine for speeding was given.

Zimmerman's passengers, Otello Micheletti, 23, 18 Vermont avenue, and Pete Belopoulos, 23, 2408 Jones street, were booked as drunk. Belopoulos received a $10 fine Wednesday. Micheletti will appear next week.

TRI-CITY FALL FESTIVAL SET

Local VFWs Sponsor First Annual Festival -- Saturday To Labor Day

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of Daly City (Old Glory Post No. 2044 and Lake Merced Post No. 9921), South San Francisco and San Bruno are sponsoring the first annual Tri-City Fall Festival, Saturday through Labor Day, at Orange Avenue Park in South City.

The festival, sponsored by the VFW for the benefit of their Youth Guidance and Community program, will feature a large opening day parade, composed of marching units, bands, drum corps, floats, on Saturday, August 30, at 1 p.m., a children's pageant from 2 to 4 p.m. and an Amateur Talent Contest from 4 to 5 p.m.

Talent Contest

The Amateur Talent Contest will be held each day and the three daily winners will compete in the grand finals, set for 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. on the final evening, September 1.

Riding on one of the beautiful floats in the opening day parade will be pretty little Karyn Thomas, of 91 West Cavour Street, Daly City, who was one of the semi-final winners of the "Miss Sunbeam 1952" contest sponsored by the Remar Baking company of Oakland.

Games, Fashion Show

Junior Olympic games for the children, a fall fashion show for the ladies and special evening shows are additional attractions of the three-day festival.

Starting off the three-day program is the parade, slated to begin at 1 p.m. Saturday, at Bayshore and Grand avenue, South City.

Led by Sheriff Earl Whitmore and featuring the sheriff's Mounted Posse and other horse sections, the parade is expected to be viewed by thousands lining the route. Immediately behind the sheriff's contingent will follow the marching units of the VFW, American Legion and other organizations.

Military Units

Next will be military units, in their proper order. The Department of the Pacific U. S. Marine Corps Band will march in the parade led by the colors of the Marine Corps Reserve Tank Unit stationed at San Bruno.

Motor Vehicle Dept. Opens Office Here

Daly City moved another step up the ladder this week towards becoming an independent community.

City Administrator Dan Andersen yesterday announced that the State Department of Motor Vehicles is opening an office in Daly City for the first time.

Scheduled to open its doors early this week, the office is located at 6165 Misison street. It will enable local residents to acquire and renew their driver's licenses and take driving tests, without having to travel to the San Francisco office of the department or the one in Redwood City.

Size of the staff and facilities of the new office have not yet been announced, said Andersen.

Importance of its establishment here lies not only in its usefulness to the community, but to a recognition on the part of state authorities of the increasingly important role Daly City is playing in Peninsula activities.

REC COMMISSION SEEKS NEW MAN

Daly City's Recreation Commission met Tuesday with the principal order of business being what to do about a new recreation director for the city.

Although Elman Rose, who announced that he is resigning from the post, has signified that he is willing to keep on the job until a suitable man is found to replace him, the need of a full-time man to take over when Rose returns to his job as instructor in mathematics at Jefferson is pressing.

Qualifications

Qualifications for the job have been drawn up—they include a college degree, working experience in the recreation field and administrative recreation experience. Interviews for the position will be conducted in the near future.

In the meantime, Rose will carry on with the work. He originally planned to end his long and highly-effective service in the post on September 15, but city officials believe a new man will not be found before October or possibly as late as November.

Rose received $127 per month for 80 to 100 hours work after his teaching was over for the day. During the summer months, when he worked full-time, he s paid $325 per month.

Petition To Re-route Bus Expected To Hit 1000 Mark By End Of Week

A petition to re-route the No. 76 bus down San Pedro avenue and into Broadmoor had snowballed to over 650 signatures by Wednesday of this week and promised to near the 1000 mark before being referred to the city council.

Mrs. Teresa Stampanoni Langford, 37 Alemany street, Daly City, yesterday told THE RECORD that businessmen and residents of lower Daly City were "signing before I even got through asking them to."

Businessmen Sign

Every business house between San Pedro and School street, where the bus now turns off Mission, had signed the petition, she added.

Originally started for the benefit of the 2000 parishioners of Holy Angels church on San Pedro and the expected 250 children who will be starting shortly at the Holy Angels school, the petition has spread throughout lower Daly City and is still going strong, said Mrs. Langford.

Taxpayers

"We're paying city taxes down in this end of the town," she said, "and it's certainly time we had some transportation facilities. After six in the evening, there's nothing but the Greyhound for us to use."

The petition calls for re-routing th No. 76 off Mission onto San Pedro, then down Washington and onto some street that would carry it into Broadmoor and Westlake.

Everything Westlake

Mrs. Langsford told THE RECORD: "Everything seems to be going Westlake these days. We want to see Westlake go ahead too, but we also want to see this end of town protected. We've got a community down here ourselves, and some action has to be taken at this end. There are no transportation facilities at all for many people here."

The petition is expected to lend weight to a recent letter to the city transportation committee by Mrs. Lillian M. Reardon, 162 E. Market street.

Published in THE RECORD on August 7, the letter reads in part:

The area below School Street off Mission Street included business and private home owners who would benefit from the above recommended change in the route. Also, the children of Jefferson Grammar School; the children of Thornton Grammar School; the children of the new

Reach For The Sky, Podner

Reach For The Sky, Podner

In the hot sun of a Western town, the sound of the marshall's six-guns echoes down the deserted street; a man clutches at his middle, grimaces in agony, and pitches face forward in the dust. Buck Hynes had just died again.

That scene and hundreds similar to it are old stuff to William (Buck) Hynes, a carpenter who resides at 57 Gambetta street, Daly City. For the time was when Buck's stomping ground was the sagebrush country around Hollywood and Vine.

Riding Double

As a "riding double" for many yars in the moom pitchers, Buck got up in the saddle to do the dangerous stuff for many a well-known star of the horse operas. William Holden, Gene Autry, Wild Bill Elliot, Don (Red) Barry, Roy Rogers and many others have stepped out of camera range so Buck could do the fancy stuff for them.

And he has one other distinction that is unusual among the "doubles" clan. The first film made of the Lone Ranger featured Buck. As the only surviving member of a party of ambushed Texas Rangers, rescued by the faithful Tonto, the Lone Ranger went through most of the picture with a mask. Behind the mask was Buck, and they didn't even give him star billing.

Gunga Din

But Western were too narrow a field. As a member of the Screen Actors Guild (he still carries his card—just in case), Buck emerged on many a screen as a Ghurka lancer in "Gunga Din," as a wild-riding cavalryman in Errol Flynn's opus of Custers Last Stand, "They Died With Their Boots On," and in many other roles.

"But I never went crazy about that stuff," he reports. "It was always a business with me."

He started in the acting business back in the good old pre-World War II days, when he was co-owner of a thriving pack horse business near Long Pine, California. A bunch of horse opera movie makers liked the rugged scenery of the area and began to make it their principal "on location" spot.

This was perfectly all right with Buck and many another man who knew how to sit a horse, for the extra work and doubling they did provided a nice slack-season income.

Eventually, the bottom dropped out of the pack-train business and Buck, his wife Edna and the family lit out for Hollywood. For over four years prior to the first war, he made his living solely before the cameras.

Then came the war and Hollywood lost much of its foreign market. So, in turn, the bottom dropped out of the motion picture business. Mrs. Hynes had no particular objection to this because the accident rate among riding doubles is apt to be pretty high. They decided to give it up. About four years ago, they came to Daly City, and Buck Hynes, desperado, became William Hynes, carpenter.

On TV

Principal piece of furniture in their home—as in many others—is the TV set, which from time to time plays one of the approximately 200 pictures Buck has worked in during his Hollywood days. They never fail to bring an appreciative squeal of, "There's Daddy!" from his 11-year-old son Buck, Jr., and his four-year-old daughter, Debbie. Two older children are married.

The making of Hynes' Hollywood success, where competition in small roles is fierce, is a face, as he puts it, that can be made into almost anything with the proper makeup.

Custer's Last Stand

As an illustration, his last picture was the Custer opus. In it he played two roles—a not uncommon occurrence—but played them simultaneously. He appeared in one take as a drunken cavalryman, getting the hell bawled out of him by a visiting general staff officer.

Then he ducked into an officer's uniform, had his face remade, and came back as a general staff officer, bawling the hell out of guess who.

He doesn't by any means remember all the pictures in which he took part. By the time cutting was over and the title had been changed two or three times, there were few of them you could recognize, he says. Some that he does recall are "Lives of A Bengal Lancer," "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," (where he took part in a crowd scene with boulders (cork) being bounced off his head by the Hunchback in the tower, "Gone With The Wind," and many others.

For these efforts he received $16.50 per day as a riding double, and $50 per day when he was called upon to take a fall from a horse. If there were a few lines to speak, so much the better. (Mrs. Hynes, it should be added, doesn't think $50 is enough for the risk involved.)

The falls he never minded: "If

YOU WOULDN'T DAST DO THIS, SIR, IF MY brother Jack were here! But he isn't, and twisting the arms of lovely young ladies is old stuff to Buck Hynes, 57 Gambetta street, Daly City. For many years Hynes (formally known as Williams) was a cowboy actor, in addition to being the original Lone Ranger in the first movie made of that glamorous figure of the Old West. Now he and his wife and two young children live quietly in Daly City, far from kleig lights, makeup and feats of derring-do or villainy.

Would they like to go back and give it another try?

Mr. Hynes: "Well, I don't know. Probably not."

Mrs. Hynes: "No."

LOCAL MAN JOINS BOXER IN KOREA

The Navy announced yesterday that Albert P. Martin, seaman apprentice and son of Mr. and Mrs. Anna Martin, 778 Bellevue avenue, Daly City, has reported for duty aboard the famed aircraft carirer Boxer, currently operating off the Korean coast.

Martin, with two other county men, boarded the Boxer from a supply ship out of Japan. Along with a total of 92 other new men, he went from the supply ship to the big battlewagon via a "high-line," a seat strung from a heavy line between the two ships.

The Boxer is now on her third tour of duty in Korean waters.

Know your Civil Defense attack warning signals: Three minutes of rising and falling blasts on sirens or horns mean "attack imminent, take cover"; three one-minute blasts alternating with two-minute periods of silence mean "all clear."

If the nation is to have an adequate Civil Defense organization there should be at least one person trained in first aid in every home.

New Music School Opens In Westlake On Labor Day

Making their grand opening Labor Day, Monday, September 1, the new Westlake School of Music offers youngsters, teen-agers, adults and old-folks alike an opportunity to develop their natural talent for music.

A staff of 12 experienced music teachers make up the new school; each with at least 10 years previous teaching in the field.

Located at 95 S. Mayfair avenue, Westlake, the school will give private tutoring in any instrument, any type of music.

Under the direction of Vern Sellin, secretary of the school and member of the San Francisco Symphony orchestra, instruction will be offered at the school for beginners, intermediate and advanced.

An open house is slated for the first opening day, with all interested persons invited to drop by and meet the faculty. Plenty of parking space is available.

For further information, call PLaza 5-7338 or LOmbard 4-3785.

CARE OF BRAKE DRUMS

Score brake drums on your car often result from lack of proper attention to the brakes. A relining job which requires resurfacing scored brake drums is much more expensive than relining when the brakes have been serviced regularly. The California State Automobile Association recommends that the wheels on your car be removed at least every 5,000 miles to inspect the lining and drums to avoid scoring.

Scientists Check Gland Function In Heart Disease

A small gland located above the kidneys may be an important factor in heart failure.

Stanford scientists believe this gland, called the adrenal cortex, may play a significant role in retaining excessive amounts of salt in heart disease victims. If research they are now undertaking at Stanford University School of Medicine in San Francisco proves this to be true, the scientists will then investigate ways of modifying its activity.

The research will be directed by Dr. John A. Luetscher, Jr., associate professor of medicine, under grants totalling $17,000, according to an announcement by Stanford Provost Douglas M. Whitaker.

The San Francisco Heart Association contributed $2500 of the amount. The remaining bulk of the funds was awarded by the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases, an organization of the U. S. Public Health Service.

Patients suffering from kidney disease with edema (swelling of tissues due to accumulation of fluid) also retain abnormal quantities of salt.

In related studies by Dr. Luetscher, some of these kidney patients have shown great improvement after treatment with the hormones cortisome and ACTH, which modified the salt-retaining activity. Similar results may be possible with heart disease, Dr. Luetscher believes.

Lions Club Offers Parking Meter Solution

previously been found feasable in a number of Mid-western communities and that he sees no reason why it will not work in Daly City.

Andersen said that he would investigate the proposal upon receipt from the Lions of a list of communities with the plan in successful operation.

The following is the complete text of a letter to the council from Rector, explaining operation of the plan in detail:

Daly City-Colma Lions Club
Daly City, Calif.

Daly City Council,
Daly City, Calif.

Dear Sirs:

In response to your request for additional information about our parking meter proposal, I submit the following:

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Daly City-Colma Lions Club, the parking meter problem was brought up under our community betterment program, as a part of our civic improvement activities. Several possible solutions were discussed, and after careful deliberation the board unanimously adopted an idea proposed by Hal Willis, the club president.

The Lions club would supply the Daly City Police Department with an ample quantity of nickels and an equal supply of imprinted envelopes addressed to the Daly City Lions Club. Upon finding a car parked at a meter with a violation showing, the police officer would place a nickel in the meter and put an envelope under the windshield wiper.

Imprinting on the envelope would read somewhat as follows: "Your automobile was found overparked. The traffic policeman has placed a nickel in the meter for you as a courtesy service, in lieu of the customary citation. Please observe parking limits and traffic laws for your safety and your convenience. Your friendly Daly City merchant invites you to make Daly City your shopping headquarters. This nickel has been supplied by the Daly City-Colma Lions Club. If you will return a nickel to them in the envelope provided, it will be possible for them to continue this service for others."

In the event an officer found a meter violation again showing on a car where the envelope had been placed, he would remove the envelope and substitute the regular citation for overparking.

The Daly City-Colma Lions Club believes this service would build an enormous amount of good will for Daly City and for the Daly City Police Department. We feel it would not interfere with the normal function of the parking meters—which is the policing of parking space in order to provide facilities for shoppers.

We feel the present meter system does not do the job it should, as it is possible on the one hand for a driver to get a citation for overtime parking when he has been parked fifteen minutes or less, and possible on the other hand that a parking space could be 'rented' for an entire day at the rate of five cents per hour.

Yours very truly,
WALTER RECTOR,
Chairman Civic Improvement Committee

SF Plans On $2,000,000 In Traffic Fines For '52

San Francisco traffic fines for 1952 will probably exceed $2,000,000, it has been estimated by Ivan L. Slavich, clerk of the Municipal Court.

Slavich based his prediction on reports from the first seven months of the year, after July set a record in fines for moving violations with a total of $62,714. Parking violators paid $100,161, bringing the total for the month to $162,875.

Despite the increases in revenue, the number of tags issued has decreased, Slavich said, adding that "stricter enforcement is decreasing the number of violations, and increasing the revenue."

WATCH TIRE INFLATION

Tires should be regularly checked for proper inflation according to National Automobile Club. Under-inflated tires cause rapid wear, cuts, punctures, blowouts, hard steering and an excessive use of gasoline. Over-inflation causes hard riding and disrupts and strains the tire carcass. It causes fatigue of the carcass, too.

Colma Junior High School; would have added transportation.

The 2,000 parishioners of Holy Angels Church, who at present have no public transportation from Daly City, Broadmoor or Westlake should be considered while you are re-routing the No. 76 Bus Line. I have spoken to Father Morrissey of Holy Angels Church and he tells me there has been no mention of transportation for the estimated 250 school children who will attend the new Holy Angels School, which is built on Reiner Street and San Pedro Rd. This problem must be taken care of and some arrangement made before the Fall Term.

House Majority Leader Asks Civil Defense Support

John W. McCormack, majority leader of the U. S. House of Representatives, delivered the following message at a recent national Civil Defense Conference in Washington:

"Because wars are complete and total, because no one is exempt from them, it is our duty to be prepared now. We can pray and hope for the best, but we should be prepared for the worst, because it is the totalitarian nation that engages in the surprise attack, not the democracy.

Chance On Opinions

"I have heard predictions as to what the Communists would do. I might have opinions similar to those that I have heard expressed. But as a legislator I cannot take the responsibility of taking a chance on opinions. The course of action that I have got to follow is to do what I can for my country's preparedness not only in our military services but also among our people.

"Civilian defense is a co-partner of the military. When war comes everyone is attacked. No one will be exempt in this atomic age. Everyone will be engaged.

"The preservation of our industry and of our people on the civilian front will be just as important as the preservation of those who comprise our armed services.

Danger

"Our American people have a tendency of responding to moods. When things look good in the newspapers we want things done overnight. We cannot afford to have such fluctuating opinions when danger confronts our country.

"This is a holy question that confronts the world today. It is a question of a world of God or a world of anti-God. That is the basic issue. All others flow from it. Do we want to be slaves, or do we want to be free men and women? To be free we have got to make sacrifices, and achieve complete unity."

Civil Defense begins in your home. Make sure your family knows what to do in an emergency.

Billy Cerna Out Of Uniform After Five Years Service

Billy George Cerna, Seaman 1st class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Cerna, 1076 Brunswick street, has been reunited with his family after serving 5 years in the United States Navy aboard the U. S. S. General Mann, P. T. transport, in four theatres of war; Korean services, Navy occupation, United Nations and China service.

Billy George, well known in the younger set here, attended Woodrow Wilson, Our Lady of Perpetual Help and Jefferson High school. In the near future he will resume his studies in some vocational field.

Second cause for a family celebration among the Cernas, was the recent return of Mrs. Cerna and her mother, Mrs. Carmen Arroyo, who have been visiting relatives in Equador and Lima, Peru, for the past six months. They report a wonderful voyage home on the Norwegian luxury steamship Seranger.

Mrs. Cerna, mother of three daughters and another son, Jim Cerna, a private first class serving in the United States Army occupational service in Frankfort, Germany, says it's wonderful to be home.

Start Construction On A-Bomb Defense Lab

Construction of a radiological defense laboratory at the San Francisco Naval Shipyard is under way.

The steel and reinforced concrete structure, without windows for bomb protection, is expected to be completed in the spring of 1954. Five of the building's six floors will consist of laboratories with modern equipment. Their function will be to develop safety measures for personnel in the event of an atomic explosion.

Techniques developed at the laboratory are expected to have great value not only to the nation's defense but marked influence on the future industrial uses of atomic power, officials said.

PRACTICAL AIR GAUGE

The ear, if it is alert, is a good air gauge, reports the National Automobile Club. When it detects a squeal from the tires when taking a corner at average speeds, the driver should take his cue to have the tires inflated. Under-inflation, as a matter of fact, has reached the danger point when tires utter these cries of pain.

A good driver is a safe driver, reminds National Automobile Club.

THE RECORD RECOMMENDS

As a reminder to you and your elected officials THE RECORD this week inaugurates a civic improvement "box score" dictated by public need.

The right hand column carries the number of days final action has been held up on these issues. We hope this guide will be instrumental in bringing about some of these needed reforms.

| | Days Delayed |
|---|---|
| A coordinated civilian defense organization which would meet at least once a month to discuss disaster problems. | 743 |
| A Chamber of Commerce supported by local businessmen to improve the community. | 98 |
| Proper transportation facilities for Westlake and Daly City, preferably a privately operated line. | 428 |
| Recreation: Park for Westlake area; Completion of the Community Center building; Night lights for Marchbanks park. | 268 |
| An end to flagrant use of closed door caucus meetings to carry on the majority of the city's business. | 1,437 |

Muni Buses Still The Best Bet

At last count there were about 16 different reasons why the buses shouldn't go where they do go, and why they should pass down Soandso street or up Suchandsuch avenue. The trouble is, most of them are justified.

How to please all the customers all of the time is something many a company would like to learn, and certainly the San Francisco muni lines are no exception. But it is all too obvious that the amount of service an ever-growing Daly City demands is more than the organization is willing to give.

There is, of course, a final and lasting answer to public transportation worries in this area—start a city bus company of our own.

It is quite possible that we can limp along temporarily on the system now going into effect, but it is absolutely certain that there will be more people disgruntled than pleased. And the former group will grow with the years and the city's population.

The purchase of a few—just a few—good used buses now would solve the problem for a long time to come. Direct and frequent service to lower Daly City, Broadmoor, Westlake, and so forth could be offered at a reasonable price without undue strain on the taxpayer's pocketbook.

Anything less will be at best a mere half-way measure.

Leave It To The Ladies

The need for an active civic-minded organization in Daly City to push much-needed community improvement projects has long been felt. To answer that need, merchants associations have been formed, and folded, and the recently-inaugurated Chamber of Commerce has received its baptism.

We would like to offer a more practical solution to this pressing problem; let the women do it.

It is a sad but true fact that the male of the species is slower to arouse and take action than the female. Also he is less inclined to band together with his fellows to bring concerted effort to bear on problems. Witness the number of men's social organizations in the city in comparison to those of the women.

So here's the panacea for our civic life—a council of women's organizations. Such a group could be set up in many ways. We offer the following as a suggestion of what could be done.

Each and every PTA, VFW auxiliary, American Legion auxiliary, etc., would send one member once a month as a delegate to the Council of Women's Clubs. After a suitable lunch and possibly some entertainment, such as a fashion show, the ladies would settle down to thrashing out proposals for community projects.

After the usual argument and compromises, they would arrive at a course of action. With each member of the group representing a complete organization, their concerted strength would be sufficient to insure—at the very least—serious consideration of their proposals by the city council, county supervisors, or any other official body.

To apply the same proposal to men would be a waste of time. They are always capable of inventing a thousand sound, judicious reasons why it would never work. But the distaff side, thank God, are always willing to rush in where angels fear to tread. A quality that is much needed in Daly City these days.

What is needed at the moment is just one organization to do the necessary organizing.

Madam, how about YOUR group?

It's Happened Before

The Labor Day story for 1952 is not a story of strikes, wildcat or otherwise, of the ten day "memorial" work-stoppage of John L. Lewis' miners, or even CIO President Philip Murray's $15,000 raise.

It's the story that came out of Washington on August 17th, when the Bureau of Labor Statistics released a survey showing that the average US city family is spending $400 a year more than it is taking in. And the same week BLS announced another hike of 6 per cent in the cost of living.

Traditionally, small town people and farm people, who are far more self-reliant and might even be a shade more thrifty, fare better than their city cousins when the economic going gets rough. But the present poisonous price-spiral will track its victim from the big city pent-house to the sod-house on the prairie and the cabin in the hills. If you run your own business, whether it's a farm, a flap-jack foundry or a pharmacy; if you work for commission or a salary; if, in short, you are not the ward of a high-powered union, you have the choice, as the cards are stacked, between abandoning those widely touted "American standards of living," or going broke.

There is, of course, as always, a way out. But it must be adopted as national policy. Collectively, under strong leadership, the American people can stop inflation in its tracks. But that leadership has not yet emerged from hiding.

Steppe-Up

Congress will meet October 5th. Not in Washington, but in Moscow. And not, of course, the US Congress, but the Soviet Communist Party Congress. This may be an event of significance, since this body has not met since 1939, the eve of World War II; since it it to launch another "five-year plan," Russia's fifth; will abolish the famed Politburo, headquarters of world-wide communist activity, setting up in its place a "Presidium" which is expected to be the same thing, even with the same faces. But, most important of all perhaps, the sessions are expected to serve notice on all concerned that Georgi Malenkov is to be Stalin's successor. It is even rumored that the Generalissimo himself may speak.

The new five-year-plan is apparently to be dated back to 1950, since it will call for an increase of 70 per cent in total production by 1955 over the 1950 volume. It has been pointed out that this is not so staggering as it might seem, since the 1955 goal for electrical power is 162 billion kilowatts, while US is presently generating 432 billion. But in terms of fighter planes, or armor, or submarines, it's another story!

We hope the men who are now presenting the new four-year-plans for our selection here at home will take note.

Why Not Develop America?

A novel twist on an old theme—foreign advice to Uncle Sam on how he would allocate his Point 4 billions around the world—was given by Dr. Dudley Stamp, British geographer, at the recent meeting of the American Geographical Society in New York.

Instead of suggesting more ways for us to spend money abroad, he startled American listeners by saying the U. S. A. is one of the most underdeveloped countries and we'd do mankind as a whole more good by development at home. The Mississippi river agricultural area, he declares, has the production potential to feed 500 million persons—nearly a quarter of the worlds population.

Even more startling was this practical Englishman's disclosure of the incredible blindness with which U. S. dollars are thrown about in some attempts at foreign development. He cited the Amazon River, into which Point 4 funds are going, as a prize example, asserting that the Amazon is in a tropical area with equatorial damp and heat that cannot be altered by any amount of money! He observed that Liberia is one of the favored areas for Point 4 outlays—although there is not even a good map of that country in existence!

Dr. Stamp's revelations doubtless come as a shock to Point 4 administrators in Washington, but to the average American it surely makes sense to develop our own rich country to the utmost—for the hungry and needy around the globe whom we are trying to help as well as for ourselves.

County Clerk Bruning Calls Attention To September 11th Registration Deadline

County Clerk John A. Bruning again urged the residents of the county who are not now registered or those who have moved and must re-register to become properly registered immediately so that they may be assured of their right of franchise on November 4th.

The final date for registration as a voter in November is September 11th. As that date is rapidly approaching, Bruning said:

"Don't Delay—Register Today."

Registration qualifications which are set forth on the affidavit of the prospective voter are: American citizenship, 21 years of age or over, one year's residence in California and 90 days in San Mateo county on or before November 4, 1952.

Over 150 registration deputies of this office located in all areas of the county will be glad to accommodate prospective voters by taking their affidavits of registration. Registrations will be taken in the Election-Registration Department at the court house, at the offices of all city clerks and at the following other locations:

Daly City

Ernest E. DaRoza, Fahey Realty Company, 5 Wellington Avenue. Mrs. Violet C. Hauptli, 56 Belford Drive. Frank W. Kent, 252 Los Banos Avenue. B. C. Ross, City Clerk's Office, City Hall. Peter J. Markovich, 6454 Mission street. Mrs. Helen Villalba, 115 Crocker avenue.

Colma

Michael C. Callan, Callan Realty Company, 2790 Junipero Serra Blvd. Mrs. Florence D. Shreve, 708 Thornhill Drive. Thomas J. Callan, Jr., Callan Realty Company, 2790 Junipero Serra Blvd. E. A. Weisenberger, City Clerk's Office. Mrs. Virginia Marovich, 1739 Louvaine Drive. James T. McKay, 1199 Nimitz Drive, Broadmoor Village.

Bruning advised that you should vote in November if you are eligible to do so. Why Delay—Register Today. Save time and avoid waiting in line. Those who wait until the last few days before the September 11th deadline will waste their valuable time as a result of the usual last-minute rush. "Register now and be assured that you will be entitled to vote on November 4th," stated Bruning.

REPORT COUNTY FAMILIES ARE LOSING RACE AGAINST INFLATION

Are many San Mateo county families losing the race against inflation? The answer is yes, according to Frank H. Abbott, Jr., president of Sunset McKee Business Forms in Oakland.

He says figures released today in a report by the research department of the National Association of Manufacturers, show that an average local family of four with an income now of $75 a week is no better off financially that a similar family in 1939 with an income of just $37 a week.

"In other words," he said, "families in San Mateo county and all over America have been running steadily since 1939 like squirrels in a cage in order to stay in the same place."

The report points out that a $250 monthly income for a family of four won't go as far today as $130 monthly in 1939 because of inflation and increased federal income taxes since that time. This family, with an annual income of $3,000 today, has no more purchasing power than it would have had in 1939 with an income of only $1,545.

Twice As Much

"Those who claim 'we never had it so good' are living in a dangerous dream world about to explode in their faces," Mr. Abbott declared. "That is why the NAM, as a public service, has made public these startling figures. Using government cost-of-living and tax statistics, they show that a married couple with two children must have today about twice as much income as they had in 1939, in order to have just the same amount of buying power they had twelve years ago."

Inflation and heavier federal income tax burdens are the two principal reasons why many families with much larger incomes than they had in 1939 are actually no better off financially, he explained. Meanwhile, he added, millions of Americans living on fixed incomes are faced with the serious fact that savings, pension and insurance dollars on which they must live are worth little more than half their 1939 value.

Sample Case

To illustrate the method used in this survey, he cited the case of a couple in this area with two children and a 1952 income of $3,900, or $75 per week. This family pays $246 in direct federal income taxes—more than three weeks' salary.

Since consumer prices, which include indirect taxes on almost all purchases, were in 1939 only 52.7 per cent of 1952 prices, the $3,654 this family has left to spend after paying income taxes will buy no more than a 1939 income of about $37 a week.

1939-1952

The report lists other examples of 1939 incomes for married couples with two children and the equivalent incomes necessary today in order to maintain the same buying power possible twelve years ago, as follows:

| 1939 Income | 1952 Equivalent |
|---|---|
| $1,054 | $2,000 |
| 1,317 | 2,500 |
| 1,545 | 3,000 |
| 1,756 | 3,500 |
| 1,967 | 4,000 |
| 2,388 | 5,000 |
| 2,599 | 5,500 |
| 2,810 | 6,000 |
| 3,232 | 7,000 |
| 4,483 | 10,000 |

"No wonder Americans are puzzled about their apparent prosperity," Mr. Abbott declared. "It's a phony prosperity of inflation where more and more dollars are required to buy the same amounts of food, clothing and other necessities, where wage-earners have nothing to show for twelve years' increase in skill and experience but a bigger bill for income taxes and a bigger share of the national debt, which has swollen from less than $41 billion in 1939 to almost $260 billion today.

"No sound, lasting prosperity is possible for us until there is an end to government policies that cheapen the value of the dollar. There must be an end to the federal government's spending of dollars it doesn't have—deficit spending that inevitably spells more inflation."

CALIFORNIA SPEAKS

Significant Statements by Interesting Californians

F. MARION BANKS, L. A. utilities executive — "Even experts who have never sold the metropolitan Los Angeles area short are dumbfounded by its growth now."

CAROLYN SHORT, S. F. business woman — "Sometimes when I'm trying to enjoy TV I wish I had a lower IQ."

AMOS ALONZO STAGG, Stockton, celebrating 90th birthday—"One of my neighbors sent me a card reminding me that very few men die after 90."

EUGENE NIXON, former Pomona College coach — "A rat of average intelligence is at least 500,000 times smarter than the average professional baseball player or manager."

"DING DONG DADDY" VAN WIE, L. A., on 16-marriages mixup—"Quite a while back, somewhere around the fifth marriage, I seem to have gone haywire."

When friends drop in unexpectedly or in the event of enemy attack or a natural disaster, it's smart to have a few extra food supplies on hand.

Keith Gardner. . . OFF THE RECORD

The birds and the bees are much maligned these days, seeing as how their principal use is to provide a convenient opening gambit for smutty conversations.

I am no birdwatcher or beekeeper by any means. In fact, my enthusiasm for our feathered friends can be read in minus numbers only. But some recent news about bees and kindred insects has awakened me to the fact that bugs are here to stay. Indeed, they may well be when we aren't.

With Stingers, Yet

Devotees of a popular magazine will remember a couple of weeks ago an article on the honey-gatherers. I fear that few paid much attention to it, for everyone seems to be carrying on life as usual. And here I sit in a cold sweat about the consequences of that inoculous story.

It seems that some bearded Austrian scientist has spent all his life in communion with bees. However, you will kindly restrain your laughter, for the guy has come up with facts that will make your blood run hot, cold and tepid.

Stand Still!

For many years our scientist friend snuggled up to his hive of bees in search of the answer to something that had long bothered him. He could not figure out why the blamed beasts kept up that incessant, erratic buzzing around that they do.

When going to or from the hive with a load of honey, they would fly with the direct precision of a guided missel. But get a few bees together and it was buzzing, nothing but buzzing all the time. Then, at long last, the great day came; he found the answer.

According to him, bees are talking when they pull those aerial cut-ups in front of each other. He tested this theory by planting honey jars at various distances from the hive, and tracing the return flight of a bee who found one of the jars.

With Wiggles

When the explorer returned to the hive, all action ceased and the swarm glued their eyes on him. He then proceeded—by up and down buzzing with tail-wiggles thrown in—to literally draw a sort of shorthand map for his comrades of the route to the honey jar.

The whole hive then made a beeline (that's a pun, friend) for the treasure while our exhausted traveler retired for 40 winks—or whatever bees do.

The implications of this discovery are what's worrying me. If the lowly bee is smart enough to communicate at will with his fellow stingers (a well-known British writer even suggests we try to establish communication ourselves with the honey-gatherers) what can we expect from the higher animals?

Baboon Einstein

There is no use dwelling morbidly on the subject, but it'll be a warm day in Daly City before anyone catches ME at the zoo. The thought of some flea-bitten baboon gibbering an explanation of Einstein to his children is more than I could take.

However, all is not lost. If the bugs have us in the brains department, we still have an ace up our sleeve. A London zoologist has reported on his lifetime experiments with insects. This character has been curator of insects of a major British zoo for many years.

Throughout that time, he has made it a practice to eat one specimen of every insect that came to his ken. This includes thousands of species, of course, and his conclusions may well be the answer to the world's pressing food problem.

Delicious!

Of all the bugs, reports the Britisher (only an Englishman would have the fortitude to carry through such a program) ants are the most delicious. Personally, I quite concur in this opinion. In my short britches days I was quite partial to ants, being especially fond of the large, black variety. They had a pleasantly bitter taste, if my memory holds true, which made it necessary to wash out one's mouth with candy after a repast. Something that didn't bother me in the least at the time.

I cannot speak from experience on what the Englishman thought the least edible of the insects, nor do I desire to. He found that of them all, the common housefly was not fit for human consumption. It has a terrible flavor, he said, and keeps buzzing while you're trying to chew it and is crunchy and . . . and . . .

Will you excuse me, please. I'm not feeling to well.

Highways Are More Crowded Than Ever; 115,141 Vehicles In San Mateo County

There is a staggering total of 115,141 vehicles registered in San Mateo county for the first six months of this year, reports the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Broken down, the number accounts for 100,617 autos, 8,499 trucks, 5,182 trailers and 843 motorcycles.

The department released the local figure to show the huge increase in registered vehicles throughout the state over the comparable period last year. The rise in registration of January-June 1952 over January-June 1951 amounts to nearly a quarter million vehicles.

A mid-year tabulation shows that the total number of motor vehicles of all types registered in the state in the first six months of 1952 was 5,223,573, while the comparable number registered during the same period on 1951 was 4,982,522.

The 1952 total includes 5,157,863 fee paid registrations and 65,710 vehicles exempt from fees. In 1951, there were 4,921.119 fee paid registrations reported, and 61,403 exempt vehicles.

State totals in various classes of vehicles for which registration fees were paid, as of June 30, 1951 and 1952 are as follows:

1951: autos, 4,042,884; trucks, 491,057; trailers, 341,598; motorcycles, 45,580.

1952: autos, 4,218,010; trucks, 536,296; trailers, 360,019; motorcycles, 43,538.

The increase in the number of autos is 175,126; trucks 45,239; and trailers, 18,421. A decrease occurred in the motorcycle registrations, reducing the 1951 total by 2,042. The total increase in fee paid registrations was 236,744. Adding the increase of 4,307 in the number of exempt vehicles reported, the total increase in the State was 241,051.

VA Advises Vets To Have Copies Of Discharge Papers

Veterans Administration today advised all veterans to have photostatic or certified copies made of their original discharge or separation papers for use in applying for veterans benefits.

Veterans with service since June 27, 1950—the start of the Korean conflict—should have these copies made immediately if they plan to attend school under the Korean GI Bill this fall.

Post-Korea veterans can avoid delay in receiving their education and training benefits if they have their report of separation (Form DD 214) papers, which are acceptable to VA, copied before the original is sent to the Armed Services for mustering-out payments. Mustering-out payments are handled by the individual services and not by VA.

For most VA administered benefits, photostatic or certified copies of discharge or separation papers are acceptable. One exception is the VA-Guaranteed GI Loans.

Veterans applying for Certificates of Eligibility for GI Loans must present their original discharge or separation papers which will be endorsed and returned to the veterans.

VA also asked veterans to make sure that in submitting photostatic or certified copies of discharge or separaiton papers that they submit copies of both sides of the document and not just the front.

Veterans who have been released to the Reserves since June 27, 1950, should submit their Report of Separation or Certificate of Service, since they do not get discharge papers.

LOOK BEFORE YOU BACK

Make sure your driveway is clear before you back out your automobile, warns the California State Automobile Association. A child, perhaps your own, could be in the driveway. Another car may be passing on the street. Look first, then back up—carefully.

Drive To Abolish Calif. Cross-Filing Is Now Underway

Hon. Dan A. Kimball, Secretary of the Navy, yeterday accepted the Chairmanship of Proposition No. 13 state-wide campaign to abolish cross-filing in California. This announcement was made by Organization chairman Richard Richards.

It was also announced that Edward H. Tickle of Carmel, former Chairman Republican State Central Committee, will serve as co-chairman. Jerry Giesler, prominent Los Angeles attorney, will serve as vice-chairman for Southern California. John B. Elliott is acting treasurer. Offices will be opened in San Francisco next week, and in Sacramento, Fresno and San Diego shortly thereafter.

Secretary Kimball issued the following statement: "I do not see this as a partisan campaign at all. I view Proposition No. 13 to abolish cross-filing as a great, surging revival of impatient Americanism, a crusade against lobby-boss rule and foreign one-party totalitarianism. In such a fight, I don't see how any good Californian can remain neutral.

"It is so important to abolish cross-filing and restore the two-party system in California that I am willing to do anything I can to help, and for this reason I have agreed to become campaign chairman for Proposition No. 13.

"I am glad the show-down on cross-filing comes in a presidential election year, when the voters are most alert. As chairman, I intend to do everything possible to see that the evils of cross-filing are exposed to the voters of both political parties. I trust their combined judgment to wipe this evil off the statute books."

YEAR BY YEAR TAX "TAKE" GETS HIGHER AND HIGHER

California taxpayers contributed $4,625,296,000 into the Federal Treasury during the fiscal year 1951-52. This was an increase of more than a billion dollars over the pervious fiscal year, according to the California State Chamber of Commerce.

Individual income and social security taxes accounted for three quarters of the increase, and the increase, and the remaining quarter-billion dollars was from corporation income taxes.

Nationally, Internal Revenue collections increased from $50,386.000.000 to $64,971,000,000, a $14½ billion increase.

At the close of the 1951-52 fiscal year, Californians paid $2,992,000,000 in individual and social security taxes. Corporation taxes took $1,064,000,000, slightly topping the World War II peak of business taxes which was $1,004,000,000, during 1944-45. Excise and other taxes accounted for $568,000,000.

Last year, 1950-51, Californians paid out $3,536,306,000 in Federal taxes of which $2,267,496,000 went for personal and social security; $753,750,000 in corporate income taxes, and $515,059,000, in excise and other taxes.

County Schools Show 13.1% Growth -- Near State High

San Mateo County schools had nearly seven times as many new students enrolled in the last school year as did the large San Francisco district. This county had the third largest numerical increase of any of the counties of the state, according to County School Superintendent James R. Tormey.

The school year 1951-52 saw 6,589 net increase in enrollment in the county schools. This number was exceeded only by Los Angeles and Alameda counties.

Percentage-wise, San Mateo County schools' growth was nearly three times the state average. San Mateo County schools increased 13.1% over the previous year, as compared with state average of 5.2%.

Tormey pointed out that the San Mateo elementary program increased 14.2% and the high school 11.7%. Both of these, said Tormey, represented not only numerical increases for the county over the previous year, but an increase in the rate of growth. In the school year 1950-51, the elementary school increase was 10.7% and the high school increase only 7%.

CHP Prepares For Labor Day Holiday

Every available California Highway Patrol officer will be on duty this weekend to help carry out the Patrol's Labor Day accident prevention program, Patrol headquarters here reported today.

With enforcement as a wedge, an all-out effort will be made to keep the traffic casualty list below the 24 deaths and more than 700 injuries chalked up on the state's highways over Labor Day last year.

Special attention will be given to roads leading in and out of Sacramento, expected to be jammed with State Fair visitors.

Regular Patrol squads in and around the capital area will be strengthened with the temporary assignment of cadet officers nearing completion of a training course at the Highway Patrol Academy.

Commissioner Clifford E. Peterson said Patrol officers made more than 5,000 arrests for traffic violations during the Labor Day holiday in 1951.

"We'll do what we can again this year to halt the unsafe, illegal driving that causes accidents," he said.

"PRINTING" IS S. F. EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR

San Francisco's $100,000,000 printing and publishing industry goes on display at the California State Fair in Sacramento this week.

The exhibit of the City and County of San Francisco in the Counties building will be entirely devoted to products of the industry.

Three printing presses have been installed in the exhibit and will operate during the Fair which opens Thursday, Aug. 28, and ends Sunday, Sept. 27.

One of the presses is a 100-year-old Columbia press, one of three known to exist in the United States. The others are a Chandler and Price high-speed automatic cylinder press and an Original Heidelberg, an automatic platen press.

Around the walls of the exhibit and in glass cases will be displayed examples of printing by local printing and publishing firms and bookbinders. Letterpress, lithography and offset printing will be represented, as will such specialties as foil printing, tin printing and many other novelties.

A display of finishing and hand binding by Herbert and Peter Fahey, San Francisco bookbinders, is included in the exhibit.

A committee of the San Francisco Club of Printing House Craftsmen headed by Thomas Hislop, retired printing firm executive, has arranged the exhibit for the city. Hislop will be in charge of the exhibit during the fair.

Chief Administrative Officer Thomas A. Brooks has supervised preparations for the exhibit which has been installed by the J. L. Stuart Manufacturing Co. of San Francisco.

Local Unions Begin Paint Specification Check Under Ruling

Officials of all Peninsula painters unions were starting a survey this week to see if FHA construction in the area is following specifications, reports George Wheeler, Daly City, member of District Council 33 of the painter's union.

Forced to drop a $183,000 damage suit against FHA for allegedly faulty paint jobs, the unions are now cracking down to due regulations which will make the individual painters responsible with contractors who skimp on painting regulations—such as a two-coat job where specifications call for three.

Union agents will survey all construction tracts in the area where FHA guaranteed mortgages have been approved, Wheeler added. They will interview painters on the job and present any under-specification jobs to FHA officials for investigation.

The $183,000 damage suit was filed by 183 San Jose home-owners, who charged negligence on the part of the FHA in inspecting house painting. The suit was dropped when government officials said they would investigate the matter.

RED CROSS ASKS AID FOR COUNTY FAMILIES STRICKEN BY FIRES

By Julie Grigg

It's never vacation time for the Red Cross. Something is always happening to somebody—and the Red Cross with its helping hand, has averted many a tragedy.

Right now, will someone help to find a home for a burned-out family? Three weeks ago the Daniel Tice family of Brisbane, mother, father, and two boys, three and a half years and eight months old, lost all their possessions when their home burned.

The Red Cross furnished clothing for the four, but combined efforts of the Home Service department and the mother and father have failed to find a place for them to live. It seems a lot of landlords don't care for youngsters. Somewhere, though, there must be a place for this little family.

Call Local Chapter

If someone knows of such a place, he is requested to call the local Red Cross chapter and the information will be immediately forwarded to the Tices. The young father works for Swift and company in South San Francisco and would prefer a North County home.

This is only one of three families who have recently been burned out and have come to the Red Cross for temporary help. On August 25, when the Robley Pinkham family menage at Gazos Creek and Highway 1, south of Pescadero, was completely destroyed, Mrs. F. G. Williamson, a Red Cross certified Social Welfare Aide, in Pescadero, took over.

Offered Aid

She offered whatever aid was needed, including an emergency shelter. She even took coffee to serve the firemen who were fighting the blaze, but reported she "couldn't get close enough to serve, because of the exploding cans."

Five minutes conversation with the Home Service Director always provides some interesting stories. Last week, came a frantic call from one of the airlines. In the early evening a New York plane landed with an Austrian war bride and her two babies aboard, and no one there to meet them.

Two Babies

So the local chapter sent Mrs. Bert Miles, Home Service Director, to see what could be done. She found a tiny woman, scarcely able to speak English, with a seventeen month old boy and a new baby just eight days old.

The father, a serviceman stationed at Camp Roberts, had sent to Austria for his little family, but there had been a mixup about ships and the mother had taken a later one than originally planned. On the fourth day at sea, her baby was born.

When no one met her in New York, all she could think of was to get to California and her husband. While the little mother looked after the luggage, Mrs. Miles had a bottle of formula warmed in the restaurant and fed the little one. People at the airport were "goggle-eyed" she said, at seeing such a tiny infant traveling.

Local Hotel

Her phone call brought a "Night Rider" with a station wagon and the family was housed for the night at a local hotel. A call to Camp Roberts elicited the information that the father was on leave, with his only forwarding address "New York City."

Maybe his parents would know where to reach him, thought Mrs. Miles, so a call to Albuquerque where they live found the young father visiting there. With great excitement he learned he was a dad for the second time. He gave instructions for his wife and babies to be put on a plane to join him at the family home.

Fresh Diapers

So the next day, with a badly needed fresh supply of diapers from the Red Cross supply closet, the three newcomers from a far-away country were started on the last leg of their journey to a happy reunion.

This sort of thing goes on day in and day out in the Home Service department with an average of between three hundred and seventy-five and four hundred cases a month being handled.

Small-Fry Display Talents In Little Theatre Show

Audience Entertained By Varied Program

A talent show for the small-fry, annual event sponsored by the city Recreation Department, was held at the Jefferson Union High school Little Theater immediately following the well-attended Arts and Crafts show, Wednesday, August 20.

Emcee for the affair was Miss Leslie Linhares, who substituted for absent Joe Ballarin.

Ballet

The program was started with a ballet dance by Pamela Murley, Pamela wore a pale pink costume and very aptly improvised her dance as she went along.

Lynn Kirkhofer, who also participated in last year's show, played the Twelfth Street Rag on his accordian. Peggy Powell and Celeste Jaymot gave a pantomine performance, "On The First Warm Day." The girls made up the numbers themselves.

Leonard Jacobson, from the Westlake playground, gave an excellent performance singing two songs. Nine-and-a-half-year-old Leonard warbled "Sunday Driving," and "The Alphabet Song."

Pantominist

Stephen Calander, also from the Westlake playground, pantomimed "I Like It," a very humorous presentation that amused the entire audience.

Joan O'Keefe, from Edgewood playground, did a lovely ballet number. Joan was dressed in a green and white striped costume.

Nancy Golden, the only pianist on the program, played "Juanita," and "Old Black Joe."

Magic Act

Sanford Jacobson proved convincingly to a skeptical audience that the hand is quicker than the eye with his magic tricks. Sanford is also from the Westlake playground.

Carol Dallas and Barbara Mattes showed what two 12-year-old acrobats can do. They were accompanied by their teacher and pianist, Carol Rae. Barbara and Carol gave excellent performances and won a blue ribbon for their class, and a second prize for the entire show. Henri Oliver then played an accordian solo. Henri also received a prize.

Results

Results of the talent show were:

CLASS A—Dance division first place, Barbara Mattes and Carol Dallas; second place, Joan O'Keefe. Instrumental first place, Henri Oliver; second, Nancy Golden. Miscellaneous division first, Sanford Jacobsen.

LOOK FAMILIAR? SHE SHOULD. Pretty little Karyn Thomas, 91 W. Cavour street, Daly City, is shown in a pose reminiscent of the girl on the package of Sunbeam bread. And small wonder, she's a semi-finalist in the "Miss Sunbeam 1952" contest. She is also one of the featured performers in the giant Tri-City Fall Festival parade—start of the big three day VFW-sponsored jamboree—which will be held this Saturday. Leading the parade will be Sheriff Earl Whitmore and his Posse, followed by horse and marching units from many local organizations and military services. Get there early, it promises to be quite a show. Parade starts at 1 p.m. Saturday at Bayshore and Grand avenue, South City.

Jefferson High Playground

By Marge Erickson

Last week along with participating in the checker and horse shoe tournament the boys and girls found a new interest in the game room. The "old favorite"—the pool table—was again established as a center of activity. Ron Bourdon, Ran Joy, Don Miller, Don Kalinin, Ron Aquillo and many others were seen behind the eight ball very frequently. Proof that pool is for all sizes and ages was seen the day nine-year-old Mike Kennedy sunk 4 falls in succession.

The ping pong ladder tournaments remain about the same with DeWayne Soares and Donna Shulda still holding the leading positions for their group.

The Folk Dancers have been reviewing the many new dances they have learned. They are hoping to plan one or two for the talent show.

This week the badminton tournament will be held—singles and doubles groups for all ages. Next week the tennis tournaments will conclude the tournament program.

Marchbanks Playground

By Leslie Linhares and Frank Ingersoll

Playground Directors

Marchbanks played host last week to Daly City's young checker enthusiasts as the Recreation Department conducted it's annual all-city tournament. In all, champions in three age classifications were crowned. In the class C age group 10-year-old Rickey Craig outplayed all other competitors.

Rickey had previously proved his his checker playing ability by winning the Marchbanks playground championship. Second to Rickey in this division was Sonny Martinez who was defeated in a close hard match.

Champ

Irish Kenny Day, Marchbanks "Boy of the Week" last week defeated Jerry Lungi for the Class B championship. Kenny trounced Sue Bridges and Joan Mallory in his first two matches but ran into difficulty with Jerry. After 30 minutes of nip and tick play the champ gradually gained the upper hand and the title.

In the class A competition Ken Geiseker proved too smart for runner-up Marguerite Cripps, as he downed Marguerite in a match that consumed barely 15 minutes.

Boy of the Week

Star junior league shortstop Gordon Tydingco is this week's Boy of the Week at Marchbanks. 11-year-old Gordon, who was born in the Philippine Islands, is one of the most natural athletes to frequent the Marchbanks play field this summer. There is little in the field of sports this youngster cannot do. Stationary is Gordon's favorite activity at the playground, although he also enjoys pool and baseball.

Gordon's ambition is to become a big league ball player and this diminutive "Joe Di Maggio" has the ability to do just that. Congratulations, Gordon.

Due to an oversight by the Marchbank director last week's Boy of the Week was omitted from our article. Last week's winner was Anthony Stagnaro. Anthony has attended Marchbanks almost every day since the summer program started and is probably the most cooperative youngster in the playground. A belated congratulations to you, Anthony.

Girl of the Week

Pretty 13-year-old Marguerite Cripps is "Girl of the Week" at Marchbanks this week. Marguerite, who likes sports in general, likes ping pong and swimming in particular. When not at the playground Marguerite likes to pursue her favorite hobby which is taking care of animals.

This youngster has very high ambitions. She hopes some day to be a housewife and raise merely a half dozen kids. Good luck, Marguerite.

THIS BREATH-TAKING VIEW of a Colorado mountain panorama was made during a practice run up 14,110-foot Pike's Peak by the Studebaker V-8 Commander Convertible which will be the pace car in this year's Pike Peak Hill Climb at Colorado Springs on Labor Day, Sept. 1. Standing beside the car is Lloyd Faddis, president and general manager of the Pike's Peak Hill Climb Association, Inc., who will be behind the wheel when the car ascends the mountain on Labor Day in advance of the 20 entrants in the 30th renewal of the race.

Studebaker Stock Car Will Lead Pike's Peak Climb

For the second time this year a Studebaker stock car will pace a major automobile racing event when a V-8 Commander Starliner leads a pack of 20 of America's fastest racers up the gruelling course of Pike's Peak on Labor Day.

It was on Memorial Day that a Studebaker V-8 Commander Convertible paced the world's fastest 33 racing cars in the famous 500-mile classic around the two-and-a-half oval at Indianapolis. At Colorado Springs, located at the base of towering, 14,110 feet Pike's Peak, on Sept. 1 the Studebaker pace car will lead the way to the summit 12 miles and 2,200 twisting feet away— mostly up. The car will be driven by Lloyd Faddis, president and general manager of the Pike's Peak Auto Hill Climb Association.

This year marks the 30th running of the Pike's Peak Hill Climb, sponsored by the Pike's Peak Auto Hill Climb Association, and as in the past it will be a race against time over a curving, perilous course marked by hairpin turns and steep grades. Starting at an altitude of 9,402 feet above sea level the course has a vertical rise of 4,708 feet before reaching an elevation of 14,110 feet above sea level at the summit. Fastest time ever made in the race was in 1946 when the winner was clocked at 15 minutes, 28.7 seconds.

The Pike's Peak Hill Climb was inaugurated in 1916 and has been run annually except for three years during the first world war and four years during the second world war.

The race is operated under the sanction of the American Automobile Association and, as at Indianapolis, time trials will be held Aug. 27 and 28 with the entrant making the fastest time on the 27th being the first to start on Sept. 1.

Republicans Open Central Office In Redwood City

The opening of the south county Republican central committee office at 95 Perry street, Redwood City, was announced today by Frank B. Ingersoll, Jr., chairman of the county Republican central committee.

Ingersoll said that the stepped-up GOP fall campaign activities have necessitated the establishing of the branch office in order to coordinate the work of the large corps of volunteer workers in the south county.

The office will be under the direction of Frank G. Belcher, 3rd district central committee member, Ingersoll said.

Campaign material for precinct work will be distributed through the new office. It will also be used for meetings and addressing work by volunteers.

Belcher said that the new headquarters would be staffed Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. He said that his committee was seeking additional volunteers to assist with the staffing of the office. Those interested in aiding with the Republican campaign in the south county area may volunteer by coming to the new headquarters or by phoning EMerson 6-3156 or 6-3257.

Belcher pointed out that a registrar will be on hand every day at the new offices to register south county citizens before the September 11 deadline.

Election Officers Are Needed For General Election

County Clerk John A. Bruning advised that applications to serve as election officers have been mailed to all persons who served at the 1952 primary election.

Many persons will have the opportunity to serve as election officers in some areas of the county due to vacancies on the various boards resulting from the inability of those who have previously served to again act at the forthcoming general election.

Registered voters desiring to be of service and assist in the conduct of the general election in their locality should make application to do so at once as appointments to the precinct boards must be completed prior to September 20th.

Application forms are obtainable at the offices of all city clerks in the county or at the Election-Registration Department, court house, Redwood City.

Bruning urged that all eligible and qualified persons offer their services now to assure early completion of the precinct boards and the proper conduct of the election.

ANCIENT LAMPS GO ON DISPLAY IN G.G. PARK

A notable collection of "lamps throughout the ages" has been permanently installed in the California Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate Park.

The collection, which contains items dating back nearly 5000 years, was presented by Mrs. Maude Rex Allen of New York City and has been set up in the Academy's new Hall of Science. It contains examples of every kind of lamp, from the earliest hollow clay dish of the caveman to wick lamps of the whale oil era of 1850.

The Allen Lamp Collection is open to the public every day in the year from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., along with other Academy exhibits.

Mosquito Control Teams Are On The Job To Control Encephalitis Spread

As mosquito control teams work around the clock throughout California's Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys to suppress the numbers of encephalitis-bearing Culex tarsalis mosquitoes, the upward trend of human cases appeared to be leveling off in the Southern part of the valley. The experience of previous years has been that the decrease in cases starts in the South and moves northward with decreasing intensity as the summer progresses.

The total reported human cases since June 1 is 528 with 31 deaths. The virus strains prevalent in California are relatively mild, which accounts for the low number of deaths as compared with the disease in other parts of the World. Most cases make a complete recovery, Dr. M. H. Merrill, Deputy State Director of Public Health, said.

While cases earlier in the season were reported predominately from the Southern valley, recent cases are being reported in increasing numbers from the Central and Northern valleys.

During July 114 cases were reported from Merced county south through Kern, compared with 80 thus far in August. The six counties in the Sacramento-San Joaquin-Stanislaus area reported 45 cases in July, but have reported 74 in August. In the counties north of Sacramento to Glenn only 3 cases were reported in July, as compared with 22 so far in August.

"Western equine virus is responsible for the current outbreak," Dr. Merrill said. "It is hoped that cases due to St. Louis virus, which normally appears in California in the early fall, will be kept to a minimum through intensive mosquito control by teams from local mosquito abatement districts augmented by State and local health department staff and by individual householders. The higher incidence of encephalitis this year is due to the unusual run-off of mountain water and climatic conditions which favored the breeding of large numbers of mosquitoes."

Governor Warren on August 1 made $250,000 in emergency State funds available to the State Department of Public Health to assist local areas in the Central Valley with their control work. This money made it possible for 20 mosquito abatement districts, which serve 80 per cent of the Valley's population of nearly 1,000,000 to immediately intensify their operations in an all-out effort to suppress the Culex tarsalis mosquito in and around 216 towns and cities in their areas. Their efforts have included barrier spraying around the perimeters of towns, killing of mosquito larvae near towns and aerosol spraying of entire towns street by street. In the areas not served by mosquito abatement districts, State funds and technical assistance to local agencies facilitated similar operations. Most central valley counties appropriated special funds for control operations, and a large share of the manpower and mobile equipment needed in the operations were supplied locally.

Dr. Merrill gave the individual householder a share of the credit in the progress being made in the war against disease bearing mosquitoes pointing out that the response of individuals has been notable in seeking out and eliminating mosquito-breeding places on their premises and in taking precautions to protect themselves from the night-biting Culex tarsalis mosquito.

San Jose Boy Wins Appointment To U. S. Naval Academy

Congressman Jack Z. Anderson today announced the results of the competitive examinations for appointment to the United States Naval Academy. The examinations were conducted by the Civil Service Commission at the request of the Congressman.

William S. Barquist, Jr., 355 Patton avenue, San Jose, received the principal appointment. First alternate was awarded to Dean Charles Swanson, Sunset Drive, Los Altos. Everett Robert Winter, 20609 Dawn Drive, Sunnyvale, received the second alternate appointment, and third alternate went to George W. Rayfield, 310 Sunkist Lane, Los Altos.

As Congressman Anderson will retire to private life at the end of his present term, this is the last time he will appoint candidates to either Naval or Military Academy. He suggests that young men interested in attending West Point or Annapolis in the future contact the representatives who will be elected from the new 9th and 10th Congressional Districts, sometime after the first of the year.

PEDESTRIAN RIGHTS

On one question of "rights," as between drivers and pedestrians, the car owner apparently is too often in the wrong declares National Automobile Club. That seems to apply in the case of the green light giving the motorists an unqualified "go" signal. Courts have held that his right to move on the signal is not unqualified; that pedestrians in the intersection must be allowed to clear before motorists waiting for the signal may move.

Prof Finds Little Difference Between Seals And Humans

His "bark" is worse than his bite; his place in society may be determined by the length of his proboscis; and snoring is considered an asset.

These are some of the unique social characteristics of the elephant seal, according to Dr. George A. Bartholomew, assistant professor of zoology on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

Tough Guy

The place of the male elephant seal in his society is determined by his ability to dominate other males. This is particularly true during the breeding season. His position is often won and maintained largely by the amount of noise he can make. Thus his "bark," actually more of a loud snort, is often as important as his bite.

The amount of noise he can make depends upon the length of his snout, often a foot or more. The longer the snout, the louder the snort. Apparently the elongated proboscis has no other use than in vocalizing.

Snores, Too

The elephant seal often snores to amuse himself. While partly submerged in an isolated tide pool, he may snore in a manner that suggests singing in a bathtub. He apparently enjoys the resonant effect of his "natural bathtub" just as a human being does that of his tub or shower. An accomplished snorer may have other seals looking up to him.

Elephant seals, once almost extinct, are being sighted in increasing numbers on certain islands off the coast of Southern and Baja California.

"Alert America" Is Highlight At Calif. State Fair

A new national attendance record for the "Alert America" Civil Defense convoy is anticipated by exhibit officials during the 11-day run at the State Fair in Sacramento August 28 through September 7.

The present record is held by Los Angeles, where 52,000 persons saw "the show that may save your life" during a six-day run.

New drawing cards to the $500,000 exhibit, which is winding up a nine-month tour of the nation, are two mobile displays not included in "Alert America" during its earlier California showings.

One shows the interdependence of rural and metropolitan areas in normal times and in event of emergency. Another illustrates the need for mutual aid and mobile support in the event of attack.

Housed in the Industrial Building just inside the fair's main gate, "Alert America" will be open free. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

HOME GROWN—Harold F. Taggart, San Mateo's Democratic Congressional Candidate, presented gardenias grown in San Mateo's own gardens to Mrs. India Edwards, Women's Vice Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and a member of Governor Adlai Stevenson's Campaign Board, before she boarded a plane Saturday afternoon at the San Francisco International Airport on her way to Stockton. The approving observer is Edward J. Reilly, San Mateo City Councilman and Co-ordinator of Stevenson-Sparkman clubs in the county, who led a delegation welcoming Mrs. Edwards to the county. Mrs. Edwards was proposed for Vice President of the United States at the Democratic National Convention, but she withdrew in favor of Senator John Sparkman.

Frivoluos, Lusty Comedy Slated At United Nations

The United Nations (formerly Alcazar) is proud to announce as its next attraction, starting Tuesday, September 2, the first San Francisco production of Christopher Fry's frivolous and lusty comedy, "The Lady's Not For Burning," starring Vincent Price, Marsha Hunt and Beulah Bondi, with Philip Tonge and James Dobson.

Fry's play, which recently delighted London and New York audiences, has brought the British playwright unprecedented acclaim since he brings to the theatre something which it has missed for a long time—a richness of language in the Elizabethan tradition. His romantic comedy about 15th Century England has caused critics to go overboard in their praise, one saying that "Fry's poetic outbursts are as rich as anything produced for the stage since Shakespeare and Ben Jonson."

"The Lady's Not For Burning" introduces an arrogant, world-sick ex-soldier to a girl who is called a witch because she wishes to live an independent life. They meet by accident and have a difficult time explaining themselves to the authorities and to each other.

Astonishment is the keynote to much of the humor and the engrossing progression of events. The ex-soldier's insistence upon being hanged for crimes he did not commit has a series of savage comic twists, while the lovely innocense of the lady condemned to burning confounds even those who are convinced she is a sorceress.

The surprise of their joint predicaments has been exploited by Fry with a wealth of pertinent dialogue, whether it is being delivered by the principals or the townspeople who have had a hand in their destinies. Beyond that, he has woven a tender and touching love story through comparative uproar, in which the lady makes a successful suit.

Price, one of the most distinguished stars of stage and screen, will be seen in the role of the sardonic Thomas Mendlip, who wishes for death so fiercely that it is clear how deeply he cares for life. As the lady of the title audiences will see Marsha Hunt, the lovely star of films and stage.

"The Lady's Not For Burning," which is being presented by Rudolph Hale, is the third play in the Alcazar Theatre Associates series of five plays.

Seats are now on sale at the box office.

Local Campaign Urges "Yes" Vote For Proposition 3

County campaign headquarters of Californians For Justice In Education have been opened at 1452 Burlingame avenue, Burlingame, with John J. Synon in charge.

From this headquarters will be conducted an intensive campaign to win Yes votes for Proposition 3, which will be on the ballot of the coming November election.

"This would grant the same tax equality to non-profit private elementary and high schools which non-profit colleges and universities have enjoyed since 1914," Synon said.

The state legislature passed the measure by a nearly unanimous vote of 108 to 3, and Governor Warren has signed it.

"Due to the fact that the bill was forced into referendum by opponents of such justice in education, Proposition 3 must receive a majority of Yes votes," explained Synon.

Harold F. Taggart Wants Action On Federal Building

Immediate action in the construction of a Federal Building in San Mateo County and in starting the Pillar Point Breakwater project will be urged in resolutions forwarded today to Democratic National Committee Headquarters by Harold F. Taggart, Democratic Congressional Candidate from San Mateo County.

Upon receiving word from the Democratic State Executive Committee that they had approved his resolutions regarding these two projects Saturday in Stockton, Taggart made copies to send to Washington calling attention to the approval voted by the official state group.

"These projects are necessary in the best interests of San Mateo County," said Taggart, "and I shall continue to take every step possible to get them under way."

"The Federal Building is needed to relieve the tremendously overcrowded facilities of post offices here," Taggart stated. "The Pillar Point Breakwater is an essential link in our national defense and will assist in the development of California's harbors."

Navy Opens New Audit Office Here

A new Navy Audit Office has been opened in San Francisco and is presently recruiting personnel with heavy auditing backgrounds, either in government, industry or public accounting, the Navy Department announced recently.

The new office will represent the Navy Comptroller's Office in Washington, D. C., furnishing evaluations of and reports of adherence to Navy financial policies and procedures, as carried out by field activities.

The objectives of the Audit Office are to review fiscal and financial procedures of all Naval establishments in the Western Area to determine their adequacy from standpoints of internal control, effectiveness and efficiency. Emphasis will be placed on eliminating duplication of effort, thereby effecting savings to the public.

The San Francisco office will serve the Western Area, which comprises Naval facilities in California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Hawaii and Alaska. It will be under the military command of the Twelfth Naval District which has its headquarters in San Francisco.

SF To Vote On Butano Proposal

San Franciscans will vote Nov. 4 on whether the city should spend $100,000 to help purchase Butano Forest in San Mateo county for preservation of its giant redwood trees.

San Francisco has been asked to join with the state, other Bay Area counties and private organizations to buy 1,040 acres of the forest for the creation of a state park. The request came after it was announced logging operations would begin unless the land was purchased from the Pacific Lumber Co.

Inasmuch as there is no money available for the purpose during the present fiscal year, the Board of Supervisors decided to present the problem to the voters this Fall.

Among permanent exhibits in the exhibition hall of the Library of Congress in Washington is the Declaration of Independence.

EXPERT SAYS GOP DOES BEST WITH MILITARY MAN

Illustrates Historical Precedence For Ike

If history repeats itself, the Republicans may get back the Presidency by nominating a military man, a professor at Santa Barbara College of the University of California revealed.

Dr. Henry A. Turner, assistant professor of political science, explains it thus: During the previous period of the Democratic Party's domination of the nation's No. 1 office, from 1801 to 1861, the Republicans (then the Whigs) were able to put only two men into the White House.

They were William Henry Harrison and Zachary Taylor—both battle-experienced military Presidents. Harrison fought the Indians and later the British in the War of 1812. Taylor also saw combat in the Indian wars and became a hero in the Mexican War attaining the rank of major-general.

Dr. Turner explained that in our nation's history the political power swings back and forth regularly between the two parties.

Wow!

The Democrats won every election except for Harrison and Taylor from 1801 to 1861. The Republicans won every election except two from 1861 to 1933 and from 1933 to the present the Democrats have again had control.

Reasons why one party has been able to stay in power for long periods were listed by Dr. Turner. First, he said, the party seems to represent public opinion most effectively and, second, more power is generated by patronage and the party is better able to build up its membership.

In addition, he continued, the party out of power was discredited. The Federalists were discredited by the Alien and Sedition Act, the Democrats by the Civil War and finally the Republicans were blamed for the depression.

Dr. Turner will participate in a panel discussion at the meeting of the American Political Science Association convening in Buffalo on August 26.

"Blessing Of The Fishing Fleet" To Climax Fishermen's Festival Sept. 7.

The beautiful ceremony of the "Blessing of the Fishing Fleet" will again be the climax of the Fishermen's Festival "The Feast of Santa Rosalia" to be held at Monterey, California, September 6-7.

In honor of "Santa Rosalia" the Sicilian Fishermen of Monterey's famous sardine fleet will again hold Open House to all visitors aboard their colorfully decorated purse-seiners, each boat competing for the perpetual trophy given yearly for the most beautifully decorated.

The Fishermen's Festival will be held this year in conjunction with the Italian Catholic Federation's 22nd Annual Convention. Thousands are expected to attend the "Fishermen's Festival" that wishes the fishermen of Monterey "good fishing" and "Safe homecoming." The schedule of events is as follows:

Summer Recreation Ends; Directors Receive Kudos

By Joe Ballarin
Recreation Supervisor

The 29th of August is a Friday and the last day of the regular summer recreation program in Daly City. This marks "finis" to eleven weeks of planned summer activities as organized and directed by Elman Rose.

In this time, the recreational activities have been host to some 6000 school children and adults, each and every week. This number becomes extremely significant when we realize that for the entire summer the program has reached into at least 65,000 recreational hours, even though each child were to spend only one hour each day in planned leisure time.

Usually this was not the case and your children spent many hours each day in wholesome recreation; hours which were guided and directed by the playground directors.

Like the spokes of the wheel which keep your child's bicycle sturdy and smooth running, likewise the playground directors have maintained constant guidance in the swift movements of the youngsters' summer emotions and fun.

To these directors, then, we give our salute of admiration as they quietly and efficiently do their professional choice:

Marge Erickson, at Jefferson High school.

Lew Reese, at Jefferson High school.

Frank Ingersoll, at Marchbanks.

Leslie Linhares, at Marchbanks.

Alice Bishop, at Westlake.

Lorraine Cady, at Edgewood.

Eleanor Hughes, at the three crafts centers.

Muriel Pabst, assistant at the three craft centers.

Leo Selmi, at Lincoln.

Rich Watso, junior director at Jefferson high.

Mike Sibitz, junior director at Marchbanks.

SARTO POSTPONES TWO GAMES DUE TO MEN ON VACATION

Because baseball players occasionally feel the need for a little vacation time like the rest of us ordinary people, Sarto AC—currently operating out of San Mateo—and the new Sarto B squad will not see action this Sunday.

The recently-organized B team was slated to start its season at Marchbanks diamond this Sunday; instead, first game for the team will be Sunday, September 7, same time, same place.

The regular Sartomen, who team-mentor Joseph Sarto last month switched to San Mateo after 14 years in Daly City, will also be held over to the Sunday following this one.

Last weekend, however, they dropped a close one to the 12 Mile House nine at Fitzgerald field in San Mateo.

Dick Simoni, of Santa Clara university and a recent addition to the local team, took the mound and threw some beautiful no-hit, no-run ball up to the first of the ninth.

Then a 12 Mileman patted a blooper over the shotstops head, and came home from third on a long fly. That washed up the ball game.

YOUNGER ATTACKS DEMO STAND ON LOCAL ISSUES

Soundly denouncing the statements issued locally by the Democrats with respect to the Half Moon Bay-Pillar Point project and the proposed Federal Post Office building in San Mateo, Art Younger today called upon the people of San Mateo county to "know the facts."

Younger stated—"If it were not for the action of the Democratic administration both of these projects would be well under way at this time. Our Republican Congressman, Jack Anderson, has made every effort in Washington for the accomplishment of these operations and this is what has happened.

Truman Refused

"1. On the Pillar Point program, congress approved the appropriation of funds for the drawing of plans and specifications for this work. Truman refuse to disburse these funds.

"2. On the San Mateo Federal Post Office building, congress passed the bill authorizing action. Truman vetoed this bill."

Younger went on to say, "Positive action on both of these issues can be assured only by the insistence of Republican representation and a Republican administration. When I am elected by the people of this county I will lend my every effort to see that the work of Jack Anderson is carried through to completion.

It is ridiculous to think that any Democratic action could be expected after what has gone on in Washington. My opponent in the coming election will have to support Trumanism along with the blundering decisions handed to the people by his administration. The people of San Mateo county know what they can expect of Republican representation."

JEFF HOSTS MITTMEN TOURNAMENT

Last Wednesday, August 20 and Friday, August 23, brought forth Daly City's young boxing enthusiasts as the Recreation Department conducted its annual all-city boxing tournament at the Jefferson High School gym. Twenty-six leather slingers engaged in the thirteen-bout program.

In the opening match, a pair of husky 90-pounders, Lefty Jim Wilson and Bobby Garner, fought a torrid draw. Wilson's long lefts to the head gave him an edge in the first, but Bobby copped the second with his aggressive two-fist attack. Both battlers stood toe to toe in the third and last round with neither gaining an advantage.

Magee Over Lewkowitz

In the day's second bout, Billy Magee's fine defense earned him a decision over Vicky Lewkowitz in a battle of left jabs. Billy stabbed his way into a slight lead in the first, coasted in the second, then blasted his opponent to the canvas in the closing seconds of the third to win the nod.

The next bout on the program saw Paul Tapia and Bob Gieseker battle to a sensational draw in the day's most outstanding fight. Both battlers broke even in the first as Tapia scored with a right lead and Gieseker countered with straight lefts.

Gieseker Shaken

In the second round, Tapia found the range with his heavy guns long enough to shake his opponent repeatedly. Gieseker, throwing caution to the winds, scored often with long right hooks in the third as he fought to even the advantage.

With 30 seconds remaining in the bout, he scored with a sweeping hook that left Tapia dazed and bewildered until the bell.

In the days fourth bout, Jerry Jastrumski won a first-round TKO over courageous Joe Stagnaro when Joe was forced to withdraw with a bloody nose.

Leftys

The next bout pitted Ronnie Rose and little Frank Bia, Jr., in a three-round match. In the first, Ronnie was content to feel his opponent out with left jabs, as Bia kept him off with long lefts to the body.

But in the second, Ronnie broke through his opponent defense to score with his jab and occasional rights to the head. Bria, in the third, trying to come from behind, unleashed his long lefts from a right lead stance. Ronnie was equal to the occasion as he counter-punched his way to a well-earned victory.

In the last bout of the day, Buddy Earnshaw jumped to an early lead, shaking his opponent, Henri Oliver, with hard rights. After losing the first two sessions, Henri came back to battle his opponent in the third. The two-round defeat was too much for Henri to overcome, with Buddy winning a close decision.

Ribbon Awards

All winners received first place blue ribbons and runners-up received second place ribbons.

On Friday, the tournament was injected with new blood as Leo Selmi, Lincoln director, entered his fine, seven-man team.

In the initial bout, Georgie Gensel and Mike Kennedy battled to a sensational draw. Mike got off to a good start as his two-fisted attack kept Georgie off balance. In the second frame Georgie battled on even terms. He came on strong in the third as the tiring Mike fought gallantly back. Gensel was able to win the last round to even up the fight.

Power-Puncher

Little Louie Morettan of Marchbanks had too much power in his right hand for Mike Craven as the former battered his way to a second round TKO. Mike, who was stunned in the first, fought back gamely at the onset of the second but Louie found the range again with his powerful right and forced his opponent to yield.

In the third bout, Harvey Stamb of Lincoln had too much class for Roger Sooman, also of Lincoln. Roger fought hard in all three rounds but was no match for Harvey's experience.

One of the tournament's better bouts took place between Waldo Benevedias and Dandy Ruelas. These two youngsters stood toe to toe throughout the bout with Waldo gaining a clean cut decision at the end of three rounds.

TKO Win

A little fireball named Billy Khinoo, won the next match on a TKO in the second over Don Sharp. Billy's two-fisted attack wore Don down, forcing the referee to call a halt after two rounds.

In the final bout of the tournament, Joe Stagnaro and Ray Bermudez fought to a three-round draw. In this interesting bout plenty of punches were thrown but few found their intended marks.

Joe's aggressive tactics won for him a slight edge, but Bermudez came back to hold him even in the second. Bermudez came on to win the third as Joe tired badly. Both gladiators were pleased with the draw verdict.

Winners and runners-up received the same awards as were given on Wednesday.

Enthusiasm for boxing is so high as the result of the tournament that inter-playground matches will probably be held in the near future.

HARRY KUCHINS TO HEAD COUNTY IKE-NIXON CLUBS

The appointment of Harry L. Kuchins, Jr., as chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon oganization for San Mateo county was announced this week by James L. Murphy, Northern California chairman.

Kuchins, who resides in San Mateo, assisted in the establishing of the original Eisenhower volunteers organization in the county prior to the recent Republican convention.

Ike Clubs

It was the efforts of this group, perhaps better known as the "Ike Clubs," which helped create the popular support for Eisenhower prior to his nomination at Chicago.

The selection of Kuchins to head the Ike-Nixon volunteer organization was in recognition of his past efforts in helping to establish local interest in the candidacy of Eisenhower, Murphy said.

Kuchins, who is 32 years old, has resided in San Mateo for four years. He is a graduate of Georgetown University and has a law office in San Francisco.

All Over Country

In assuming the chairmanship of the Ike-Nixon volunteers Kuchins said that his present plans call for the organization of Ike-Nixon Clubs in every section of the county. He emphasized that membership in the clubs is on a non-partisan basis and that anyone interestedi in aiding in the Eisenhower campaign may do so regardless of party affiliation.

Kuchins said that arrangements were being completed this week for the opening of the first Ike-Nixon Volunteer office in the 25th avenue section of San Mateo. The address and phone number will be announced later.

Daly City Garden Club To Hear Herb Lecture

Mrs. Harold Gordon Henningsen, chairman of District 4 of the California Garden Clubs, Incorporated, will be the speaker Tuesday evening, September 2, at 8 p.m., before a meeting of the Daly City Garden club.

Mrs. Henningsen will offer as her topic: "Herbs." The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. Martin, 2874 Harrison street.

Slump Still Plagues Vince And Fred Nine

Vince and Fred's tried hard Sunday to break their ever-lengthening losing streak, but did not quite make the grade.

Plagued by a series of in-the-bag games gone sour, the local nine met Les Vogel's squad at 2 p.m. at Marchbanks park and lost by the same score as they did last week against Syl's Service, 3-2.

Hoffman Hurls

Hurler Hoffman led the V and F diamondmen with his no-hit pitching up to the seventh frame. From then on it was katy-bar-the-door.

Third baseman Izzy Galente garnered one of the two lonesome local tallies, despite the fact that he has the lowest average at the plate on the team.

And on the other end of the percentages, catcher Harry Krohn picked up the other run. Krohn, at latest count, was batting a solid .500, which is good work in any man's league.

Failed To Score

Center fielder Domecus and Hoffman also picked up hits but failed to bring them around the bases. New to the squad, Hoffman is a white hope for the locals.

Batting percentages for the remainder of the local men are: Arata, .222; Buckholtz, .250; Decker, .347; Clayton, .307; Shaughnessy, .200; De Bernardi, .222; Malinoff, .333; Domecus, .300; Bournellis, .333; Makrus, .190.

Civil Defense is common sense: remove fire hazards, such as old newspapers and magazines, oily rags, packing materials and paint cans from your basement, attic, garage and yard.

CADDIES LEAD TEEN-AGE LEAGUE

Drop Giants To Take Last-Minute Lead In Next To Last Week Of Play

The local baseball titanic of the summer season took place last Tuesday on the Marchbanks diamond when the undefeated Giants met the undefeated Caddies for the Teen-Age League lead.

The strong Giant nine jumped to an early lead in the first as Ray Rosa stole home on Willie Nievers' wild pitch for the initial tally.

Caddies Lead

In the top of third the greatly-improved Caddies took the lead with a three-run outburst on four walks, a batter hit by a pitched ball and a two-run single to left by player-manager Leon Edwards.

Both clubs were retired runless in the fourth, fifth and sixth, but the Caddies exploded again in their half of the seventh for five big runs on hits by Leon Edwards, Bill Stiff, Dave Yallby, Jack Plunket and Tonny Pike.

Nieve Outstanding

Pitcher Willie Nieve of the Caddies was easily the game's most outstanding player, as he silenced the heavy-hitting Giants with only two hits. Player-manager John Madden had a sad day behind the plate, committing five errors, which contributed largely to his club's defeat.

Ray Rosa, moundsman for the Giants also had a bad day as he was shelled for eight hits in the seven inning tilt.

The victorious Caddies must still defeat the ever-dangerous Marchbanks Tigers in order to win the league championship, which ends next week. A win over the Caddies by the Tigers would throw the league into a three-way tie for first place.

Archery Contest Winners Announced

In the archery competition held this week for local boys and girls, Frank Bria announced that the following participants were winners: First place, girls, Turpy Rassmussen; second, Betty Morretti; third, Sandra Morretti. In the boys class first was taken by Carmen Bria, second by Jimmie Duerner, and third by John Harvey.

Tennis was also one of the highlights this week on the Jefferson High school courts.

Rich Watso was the winner with Ronald Joy taking second place in the "follow the bouncing ball" department.

In the senior men's division, Marty Strubel definitely took first place, Larry Ferguson second and Buck Linhares third. Marty won for himself a very nice tennis trophy cup, having failed to make the grade in horseshoes as reported last week.

SLATE ENROLLM'NT FOR JEFF HIGH

High school students who have not made out their courses of study and who plan to enter Jefferson Union high school this fall are invited to come to the school Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, September third, fourth and fifth.

This will include students who have moved into the district since the close of school, and those from Our Lady of Perpetual Help or other schools who were not programmed last spring.

The dean of girls, Miss Ada Wood, and the dean of boys, Mr. Glenn South, will be in their offices from 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m.

The high school is located at 6996 Mission Street. Parents are invited to come in and talk over the students' programs.

An enrollment over eleven hundred will crowd the school but plans have been made to care for the increased number of students.

Returning "Indians" will find a number of improvements. The auditorium, the halls, and a number of class rooms have been painted. The repairs to the pool are nearing completion and it is hoped to have the pool ready for use by the first of October.

Complete Plans For September 14 Stock Car Racing

Plans were completed today to stage a 350 lap stock car race, the longest of the 1952 season, on Sunday, September 14, on the huge paved five-eighths mile banked Oakland Speedway.

Leading drivers from all parts of the West will tool new passenger coupes and sedans in the lucrative attraction.

Entry blanks were in the mail today to pilots, car owners and dealers, according to announcement by A. J. (Mac) McGrete, managing director of the speedway.

The race, he said, will be sanctioned jointly by the California Stock Car Racing Association, headed by Robert (Bob) Barkheimer of San Jose, and the Bay Cities Racing Association, headed by Joseph Neault of Oakland.

Joint sanction, it is believed, will lead to additional new entries to the already colorful array of favorites.

Previous stock car races were under sanction of the American Racing Association, but the A.R.A. is currently engaged in a race car program throughout the Pacific Northwest. Managing Director Charles Curryer of A.R.A. will be out of the state on September 14, and unable to devote his personal attention and direct the technical committee on the important details of a 350 lap stock car race at Oakland.

The largest field ever in the history of Oakland stock car races is anticipated under the joint CSCRA and BCRA sanction.

All American makes of 1949-52 models will compete in the merry scramble for fame, cash and glory.

RETURNED TAGS EARN AWARDS FOR ANGLERS

Fifteen California anglers who returned the tags found on catfish tagged by the Department of Fish and Game were rewarded with prizes of fishing equipment recently when their tag numbers came up in the Foothill (Oakland) Sportsmen's club first tag drawing.

Each angler who turned in a catfish tag during the last six months became eligible for the prizes donated by Bay Area merchants. Cooperating sportsmen will automatically be entered in the future semi-annual drawings.
